

held by the unthinking, ^{so} that I have come to believe that it was an error of strategy, not of principle, to fail to invite pro-Administration speakers.

There has been no "subtle deterioration of the genre" since the first teach-in.
There have simply been teach-ins, ~~that~~ ~~had~~ ^{and good} ~~have~~ been better or worse, depending their quality has not depended.
~~not~~ so much on the views represented

~~not~~ the nature of the audience, but on the ^{intellectual and moral} quality of the presentations - whatever position speakers took ~~that~~

^{To the extent} ~~to which~~ ^{that} hard thought about ^{promoted,} complex issues has been ~~stimulated~~ even among the "convinced." ~~And~~

^{The teach-ins have served an important educational purpose.}
(And let me add, there have been some atrocious teach-ins in the U.S.)
