

AN APPEAL TO OUR STUDENTS

We the faculty are deeply worried about the war in Viet Nam. We think its moral, political, and military consequences are very grave, and that we must examine them and find new alternatives before irreparable actions occur. We are devoting the night of March 24-25 to seminars, lectures, informal discussion and a protest rally to focus attention on this war, its consequences, and ways to stop it. We need the students to help us in this search for a better policy, and we invite your help. Please see the Michigan Daily and the posters and notices around the campus for details of the night.
